A Romance of the Days When the Lord Redeemed the Children of Israel From the Bondage of Egypt

By Elizabeth Miller

Copyright, 1904, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

At last Kenkenes laid the body down and stood up. It had come to him very plainly that but for Atnu already these dead servants would have been beyond overtaking in pursuit of his love. Though a worshiper of Israel's God, Kenkenes was still Egyptian in his instincts. The man who had died to save Rachel he could not bury unconfined in a grave of sand, where the natural processes of dissolution would destroy him utterly. His and Rachel's debts to Atnu were great, and the demand was made upon him now to discharge all that was possible in the one act of caring for the dead soldier's remains. Kenkenes could not bear the body back to the group he had left about the king, for he had a mission which concerned all the living who were dear to him. Furthermore, the sky was threatening, the desert was a terrible place during high winds, and he dared not delay.

Suddenly a thought struck him. Travelers and seafaring men had told him that there were settlements along the Red sea. Might he not go forward on his way after Israel till he found one of these? He led the largest horse past the dead servants and, persuading it to stand, lifted the body of Atnu upon its back. With difficulty he mounted and, supporting the limp burden with one arm, turned again toward the south-east.

As he went forward Kenkenes meditated on the signs of this recent and tragic event. He had searched throughout the length and breadth of Goshen for Rachel, and none had seen her or heard of her since she had fled from Har-hat into the desert, eight months before he had seen her last. Israel was more ignorant of the whereabouts of Rachel than he. He could not tell whether Har-hat knew where she was, nor could he guess from the position of the fighters in which direction the servants had meant to ride. The tracks of their horses were not to be discovered in the great trampled roadway Israel had made.

Of this thing Kenkenes was sure. If Rachel were with Israel she had joined it after he had left Goshen. In that case he was going to her to ask after her safety when he inquired after all Israel. If she were still in Egypt he would stop Har-hat's search forever. This recollection added to his determination and intensified his zeal. At the beginning of the great fields of sea grass he came upon a little hamlet. It was a considerable distance inland, and the chief industry of the people could have been only the gathering of sedge for hay or the curing of herb and root for medicines. Some of the villagers were in sight, but the most of them were out in the direction of the lakes laboring in the marsh grass. In the course of the past year's events Kenkenes had learned to be a cautious and skillful fugitive. He did not care to be caught and taxed with the death of the man whose body he bore. The village shrine was the structure nearest to him. It was built of sun dried brick, with three walls, the fourth side open to the sunrise. Kenkenes dismounted and reconnoitered. The shrine was empty, and none of the villagers was near. He lifted the dead man from the horse and bore the body into the sanctuary. Before the image of Athor was a long table overlaid with a slab of red sandstone. Here the offerings were left and here Kenkenes laid Atnu, a true sacrifice to the love deity. Reverently the young man closed the eyes and straightened the chilling limbs. Going into his patrimony of jewels sewn in his belt, he took an emerald and, putting it in the hands, crossed them above the breast. Then he laid his mantle over the bier.

At the threshold he found a soft stone, and with that he wrote upon the head of the long table the name of the dead man and Mendes, his native city. Under this he wrote further to the villagers, charging them, in the name of the goddess, to care for the body reverently and return it to the tomb of Atnu's fathers. Having made note of the emerald as remuneration for their labors, he completed the inscription without signature.

Thus he insured the safety and preservation of the bones of Atnu, and in the eye of the average Egyptian he had served the soldier well. But Kenkenes was not satisfied.

As he left the shrine he muttered with trembling lips: "Bless him! The fate is not kind which yields to such goodness no reward save gratitude. There must be, because of the great God's justness, some especial blessing laid up for Atnu."

In the time he had spent in the sanctuary the atmosphere had grown hazy, and the sun shone obscurely. To the east were tumbled and darkening masses, which gathered even as he looked and joined till they stretched in a vast and unilluminated sweep about the horizon. The wind had died, and the heat bathed him in perspiration.

Once again his eyes sought the pillar and found it above him, still somewhat to the east, yet in form unchanged, in hue undimmed. Something within him associated the column of cloud with Israel and Israel's God.

He went to his horse and found him terrified and unmanageable. After vain efforts to soothe the creature he walked away a little space, clasping his hands.

"O thou mysterious God, by these tokens thy hand is upon the earth and upon the heavens! Even as thou hast shielded me thus far, withdraw not thy sheltering hand from about me, thy worshiper, in this thy latest hour of mystery."

He skirted the village, now filling with frightened peasants, and took the path of Israel. It led in a southeasterly direction toward a faroff hill, barely outlined through the haze of the distance. Meanwhile the darkness settled and over the sea the sadder bastion of cloud heaved its sooty bulk up the sky. The air stagnated, and the whole desert was soundless.

If Menepthah's scouts had reported truly, Israel had behind it a hill, east of it the sea. West of it the army would approach. South only could it flee into a torrid, arid, uninhabited desert.

A round and tumbled mass, blue black, but attended by a copper colored rack, detached itself from a shell-like stratum of cloud and, elongating, seemed to descend to the surface of the sea. Daylight went out instantly, and a prolonged moan came from the distant east. Blinding flashes of lightning illuminated the whirling mass and almost absolute darkness fell after each bolt. Out of the inky midnight toward the east came an ever increasing sound of a maddened sea, gathering in volume and fury and menace. Kenkenes flung himself on his face and waited.

He did not have long to wait. With a noise of mighty rending, reinforced by a continuous roll of savage thunder, the storm struck. A spinning cone of wind caught a great expanse of sand and, lifting the loose covering, checked a huge twisting column inland—death and entombment for any living thing it met. With it went a great blast of spray, stones, seaweed, masses of sedge uprooted bodily, much wreckage, palm trees, small but which went to pieces as they were carried along, wild and domestic animals, anything and everything that lay in the path of the storm.

The rotary movement passed with the first whirl, but a hurricane, blowing with overbearing velocity, pressed like a wall against anything that strove to face it. Its hoarse raving filled Kenkenes' ears with titanic sound. The breath was snatched from his nostrils. His eyelids, tightly closed, were stung with sharply driven sand. Though he

"I bring tidings to your captain," struggled to his feet and attempted to proceed, he staggered and wandered and was prone to turn away from the solid breast of the mighty blast. He could not hope to make headway blind, yet he dared not lift his face to the sand. He could make a shelter over his eye that he might watch his feet, but he could not discover path and direct his hand in this manner.

The city was far advanced, and already the army had outstripped him. Might not Har-hat at this hour be descending with his veterans, seasoned against the simoons of Arabia, upon Israel, centralized in the storm?

Desperate, the young man dropped his hands and flung up his head.

He was standing in a soft light very faintly illumined about him, but narrowing behind him, brightening as it contracted, into almost daytime brilliancy to the south. The illuminated strip was not wide, the plateau to the west was dark, the farther east likewise storm obscured. Taking courage, he raised his eyes for an instant. The drifting sand would not permit a longer contemplation, but in that fleeting glimpse he discovered the source of the supernatural radiance. The pillar was tinged like a cloud in the sunset with a mellow and benign fire.

Kenkenes did not marvel and was not perplexed. The miracles no longer amazed him, but he had not become indifferent or unthankful. Each forward step he took was a declaration of faith; the thrill of relief in his veins, a psalm of thanksgiving. The stones were as many and as sharp, the way as untender, and the mighty tempest strove against him as powerfully, but he followed the ray, trusting implicitly.

Night fell unnoticed, for it merged with the supernatural darkness of the day.

At the summit of the slope which led down to the water's edge he paused. Below him was a gentle declivity ending to the south in darkness. There was not a glimmer of radiance on the sea. Far to the east could be heard the sound of infuriated surges, storming the rocks, but dense darkness shrouded all the distance. Only the beach directly under him was alight. The shadows cast were blacker than daylight shadows, and the radiance had a touch of gold, which gilded everything beneath it. The poorest object was enriched, the meanest subdued.

Had the number of Israel been 10,000 or even 100,000 Kenkenes might have had some conception of the multitude. The millions massed below him on the sand were not to be looked on except as a vast unit.

The tribes were divided, the herds were collected at the rear or inland side, and the lepers were isolated, but no order in detail was possible. Tents were down, goods were being gathered and much commotion was apparent. Even at a distance Kenkenes could see that consternation and dismay were rife among Israel. The whole valley was murmurous with subdued outcry, and a multitudinous howling and bleating of the herds swept up, blown wildly by the hurricane.

The senses, too, are limited in their grasp, even as the brain has bounds upon its conception. The dimensions, movement and sound of the multitude overtaxed the eye and ear.

Was it the storm or the army that had frightened them?

Slipping and sliding in his haste, he descended the slope without care for the sound he made. The hillocks and hollows that interposed irritated him. His impatience made him forget his great weariness. Israel's helpless ones to the sword, Israel's treasure open to the enrichment of a traitor, Israel's fighting men driven to rally to his standard—Rachel's people to be mastered by Har-hat!

MUCH TO THE BAD

Castro Is Daily Getting Deeper Into International Disrepute.

TALKS OF AN INVASION

It Is Now Known That United States Army Is Figuring on How to Get Into Venezuela.

France Is Likewise Figuring on Pulling Off Some Naval Maneuvers Down That Way

Washington, Oct. 3.—Venezuela and her troublous conditions are now the subject of earnest consideration by the Washington and Paris governments. Just from Paris with full instructions, Mr. Jusserand, the French ambassador, called at the state department and was in conference with Secretary Root for half an hour. Venezuela was the main subject under consideration, special attention being given to President Castro. This conference is the first of a series which may be expected on this subject, and was of a preliminary nature.

At its conclusion the announcement was made that the Venezuelan situation had not entered on "an imminent critical" stage. No course of action was agreed upon and none was proposed. What the relative attitude of the two aggrieved nations is toward Venezuela was informally discussed, but pending the investigation there which the American commissioner, Judge Calhoun, is now making on behalf of the Washington government, it was not possible for the secretary of state to outline to the ambassador the definite course of this country.

Mr. Jusserand made it plain that while France proposed to protect the rights of her citizens in Venezuela as elsewhere throughout the world, the French government will continue its traditional policy of courteous recognition of the special interest of this country in a question like this which affects another American republic.

It is a well-known fact, not only in army circles but throughout the diplomatic corps, that the general staff of the army has been making a thorough and special study of Venezuela from a military standpoint, but this government as well as France appreciates the difficulties of an inland expedition to the Venezuelan capital, even should a critical turn of events warrant the serious consideration of such a move. At the same time France with the remainder of the European nations realizes that a naval demonstration off La Guaira if such a course should ever be determined on, is not a sure method of forcing President Castro to yield, because of the distance of Caracas from the sea.

Calhoun's Mission Ended.

La Guira, Venezuela, Oct. 3.—Former Judge W. J. Calhoun of Chicago, special commissioner of the United States to Venezuela, has sailed for home.

DISCOUNTS STRIKE RUMOR

President Mitchell Anticipates No Trouble in Mining Region.

New York, Oct. 3.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, arrived in this city yesterday on his way to Washington to have an interview with President Roosevelt.

It was understood that the president had sent for Mr. Mitchell to talk over the threatened revival of the troubles among the miners in the anthracite coal region and to see what steps are to be taken to avert the threatened strike. Mr. Mitchell denied that he was going to see the president on such a subject. "My call on the president is at my own request, and has no connection whatever with the alleged trouble brewing among the miners. It will be a purely personal visit."

"I don't anticipate any great trouble in the mining district. The miners are making great progress in the line of organization, but the general tone among them is amicable."

Mr. Mitchell left for Washington last night.

Militia to the Rescue.

Houston, Tex., Oct. 3.—Governor Lanham last night took positive action to prevent the lynching of the negro Monk Gibson, who has been hunted by both blacks and whites for several days to answer a charge of assault, and ordered two companies of state militia from Houston to Edna. The latest reports from Edna are that Gibson has not been caught, although the trailers are still confident.

Yearly Meeting Ended.

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 3.—The 85th session of the Indiana yearly meeting of Friends closed here last night. A letter from Governor J. Frank Hanly of Indiana was read in which he thanked the body for its support of his efforts to enforce the laws. About $10,000 was appropriated for various religious purposes.

Pat Crowe in Limbo.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 3.—The police last night arrested a man whom Chief of Police Mulholland declares is Pat Crowe, the alleged kidnapper of the son of Edward Cadahy, the millionaire packer of Omaha.

BANDITS AT WORK

Great Northern Train Held Up Within Ten Miles of Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 3.—An east-bound Great Northern passenger train was held up by a gang of bandits ten miles out from this city. Hundreds of shots were exchanged between the train crew and the robbers, and the express car was blown to pieces by three charges of dynamite. Sheriff Smith is organizing a posse to go to the scene. No word as to whether anyone was killed has been received.

SET THEM TO THINKING

Young Broker's Clerk Tells How He "Worked" Big Bank.

New York, Oct. 3.—By the confession of Henry A. Leonard, a young clerk in the employ of Halle & Stieglitz, brokers at 39 Broad street, the mystery of the robbery on Wednesday last of $350,000 worth of securities from the National City bank has been cleared up. Leonard, who lives with his parents at 586 East 136th street, was arrested and kept in close confinement while the detectives continued their search for the missing securities, every dollar of which was recovered.

The prisoner, who is only twenty-four years old, and who has previously borne the reputation of an industrious and thoroughly reliable clerk, made the astounding statement in his confession that he had planned and carried out his scheme of forgery and robbery, not from any criminal motive, but solely to show by what a simple device the elaborate safeguards of New York banks could be set at naught. That this statement is true is in a measure corroborated by the facts in the case and is the belief of the young man's employers, by whom he was highly esteemed.

Leonard was held in the Tombs police court in $50,000 bail for further examination. On leaving the court-room on his way to prison he said, in response to a question, "I did it on a bet."

SAVED BY SOLDIERS

Young Woman Lion Tamer Plucked From Jaws of Enraged Beast.

Gilman, Ill., Oct. 3.—Miss Almee Blondel, a lion-tamer, was attacked and terribly mutilated during a performance of a circus last evening by the trick lion, Roosevelt. It is thought Miss Blondel will die. She was only saved from immediate death in the cage by the bullets of a troop of United States cavalrymen traveling with the circus, who poured a volley into the body of the lion. The young woman was feeding several lions in the cage when the big animal became enraged and sprang upon her. After wounding his tamer severely in the back the beast nearly pulled her right arm from its socket. A dozen shots brought the big lion down and the girl was rescued. The lion was not killed, and it is thought he may recover.

Railway Mail Clerks Gather.

Cincinnati, Oct. 3.—Many delegates and visitors have arrived here to attend the national conventions of the Railway Mail Association, the Railway Mail Service Mutual Benefit association, and the Ladies' Auxiliary. All indications point to a large gathering, big conventions and a merry time between business sessions. The business meetings began this morning.

Gratification at New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 3.—The announcement of President Roosevelt's decision to visit New Orleans on his forthcoming trip to the Southland has caused profound gratification, and it is regarded as certain to give fresh stimulus to the fight now in progress to drive out the fever before the end of the present month.

WITTE'S NEW JOB

He Will Be the Chief of Russia's New Ministerial Cabinet.

HONORS YET TO COME

Position of Chancellor of the Empire to Be Offered Man Who Gave His Country Peace.

Emperor Nicholas Recognizes Fully Great Service Rendered by Count Witte.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 3.—The position of chief of the new ministerial cabinet, the creation of which is called for by the institution of the imperial duma with the right of interpellation, was offered to Count Witte Friday last by the emperor, according to current understanding. Count Witte has declined to confirm the report, but it is known that, at the emperor's request, he has abandoned his plan of going abroad in order to assist in the elaboration of the project for a cabinet, and an official who is very close to Count Witte said that his nomination as chancellor might be expected within a month, simultaneous with the promulgation of the project on which the Solsky commission will resume work as soon as Count Witte returns from a few days' trip in the provinces.

The emperor, it is said in court circles, recognizes fully the great services rendered by Count Witte and entertains the friendliest sentiments toward him. The count appears to be highly satisfied with the warmth of the imperial welcome and the title conferred upon him, and the relations between the emperor and his distinguished subject are on a far closer and more intimate footing than before the statesman's selection as peace plenipotentiary.

Count Witte occupies a commanding position in Russia. The attitude of the official world is manifested by the long lines of equipages seen in front of his residence belonging to officials who call to pay their respects to the second man in the empire, while the tone of the press and the expressions of the general public with regard to him are almost universally commendatory.

The count is receiving resolutions of praise from many cities of the empire, and the St. Petersburg duma is planning to present him with an address of congratulation so as to make up for the absence of an official welcome on his arrival.

ROUNDING THEM UP

Dangerous Gang of Counterfeiters Taken in West Virginia.

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 3.—What is believed to have been one of the worst gangs of counterfeiters ever known in this section has been rounded up here within the past few weeks. Already five have been sentenced to the penitentiary and four others are now under arrest and awaiting trial. George Olmstead was arrested here yesterday and a considerable sum of counterfeit money found upon his person. Olmstead confessed and disclosed the location of the counterfeiters' headquarters, under the Ohio river bank below Central City. A quantity of metal for making the bogus coins and several molds were found. Olmstead's confession implicated three other men and the authorities are now searching for them. The operations of the gang have been chiefly in the vicinity of Charleston and Huntington. Jackson Silverthorn, Alfred Atkins, Noah Daley, Milton Grose and Blackgood Collins have already been sentenced to the penitentiary, while Scott Collins, Alderson Rutherford, John Raikes and George Olmstead have been arrested. Dollars, half-dollars and nickels have been manufactured by the counterfeiters.

ACCOUNTING WANTED

Affairs of Western Life Indemnity Company Taken to Court.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Individual bankruptcy proceedings have been begun against E. I. Rosenfeld, manager of the Western Life Indemnity company, already the subject of much investigation on the part of several of the policy holders, and if the new move meets with success Rosenfeld will be compelled to testify concerning his interests in the Western Life Indemnity company. The involuntary bankruptcy petition against Rosenfeld individually was filed in the United States district court by Attorney Salmon O. Levinson for the complainants, while Judge Kohlsaat in the United States circuit court was hearing arguments by Attorney Isaac Mayer, defending Rosenfeld, General Moulton and the insurance company against an accounting, the appointment of a receiver for the insurance company and the reference of the entire difficulty to a master in chancery. A restraining order was issued by Judge Bethea of the United States district court enjoining Rosenfeld from moving any of his assets, including his alleged contract with the defendant company, from the jurisdiction of the court. The move was a complete surprise to the officials of the insurance company, but was not the only one, as another bill was filed in the state circuit court, asking for an injunction restraining the officials of the company at the meeting today to pay the directors and other officials of the company for their work in reinsuring the company.

An attempt will be made to have the petition against Rosenfeld individually referred to a bankruptcy referee, and if this motion is granted Rosenfeld can be compelled to take the witness stand and testify concerning the assets he has in his possession. It is charged in the bankruptcy petition that Rosenfeld owes more than $32,000 in judgments held by Harriet Russell Dewey, Brady's Bend, Pa.; Elizabeth Bock, Brunswick, Germany, and Kate Clark, Washington, D. C. The petition is based on an alleged act in bankruptcy which Rosenfeld is said to have committed when in September of this year he transferred a large portion of his assets to William H. Gray, former manager of the Western Life Indemnity company, thus preferring Gray over the other creditors.

"I am well now and enjoying better health than ever before in my whole life."

That is the statement of a woman who had never been well until she was made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There are a great many other women in like case. They have always been sufferers from disease, they have never known the joy of perfect health.

For all such women Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription holds out the prospect of perfect and permanent health, by the cure of the womanly diseases which weaken women. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"It gives me pleasure to let you know of the great benefit received from Dr. Pierce's medicine and the advice which you so kindly sent," writes Mrs. Bertie Parker, of Bonham, Fannin Co., Texas. "I took your 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and followed your advice regarding the 'Lotion Tablets,' and am cured. I had been treated by different doctors and spent one hundred dollars for treatment and medicine, but received very little relief. I have only spent seventeen dollars and fifty cents for your medicine and it has cured me in three or four months of ulceration and falling of uterus. I suffered severe misery in my back, also irregular periods. Had bearing-down in lower portion of body and great pain all through my body. Pain in uterus was very severe. Had smothering spells, breath was very short all the time, had pain in stomach, pain in my thighs, pain in breast, also between my shoulders. Bowels constipated. I am well now and enjoying better health than ever before in my whole life. Am happy to tell you that I was cured by your good advice and good medicines, the 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery,' 'Pleasant Pellets' and 'Lotion Tablets.' These medicines cured me and will cure others also."

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. His profit is your loss, therefore accept no substitute. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

IRWIN HERE AGAIN.

Drives Over Proposed Routes With A Surveyor.

WILLG. Irwin, the Columbus traction man, spent about two hours here again today. With him was his superintendent, Geo. A. Saylor, and John E. Jolliff, an engineer from Franklin. They drove down through Jonesville and went back through Azalia.

The purpose of this trip was to show Engineer Jolliff over the two routes. He will begin at once making a preliminary survey of both the routes. When he has completed this work and reported to Mr. Irwin some positive announcement will be made as to future purposes.

While Mr. Irwin was here he stated that he was not ready to say positively that their line would be extended to this city but almost, that conditions seemed favorable and that he would be ready to say more in the near future when the engineer had reported. He also intimated that the line would not stop at this point.

With three different traction companies in the field, each of them proposing to build through Seymour, it begins to look like we would have interurban accommodations within a year. That is what we want. Seymour is located right to have electric lines in every direction. There is room for all these companies that are in the field.

Political Gossip.

Samuel Hodapp is a candidate for councilman in the First Ward subject to the republican primary. Mr. Hodapp has been an esteemed resident of Seymour many years and nearly every one in the city knows him personally. For years he has been a trusted and faithful employee of the B & O. S. W. He is honest and capable and would serve the people well as a member of the city council.

For a number of years he has been engineer at the Blish mill. He takes a keen interest in the welfare of Seymour and as a member of the city council would serve the people with fidelity and efficiency.

Republicans should remember the primary next Thursday afternoon and all get out and help nominate a ticket. Polls open from 1 p. m. until 8 p. m.

THE WONDERFUL BIOSCOPE.

Italian Invention For Studying the Habits of Insects.

Many times more powerful than the most highly improved microscope to which modern science is indebted for numerous important discoveries is the bioscope, recently invented by M. de Gasparis, an Italian scientist of the University of Naples, Italy.

This wonderful apparatus is a "long focus" microscope, designed, as its name implies, for the study of the phenomena of animal life in all cases in which it is impossible for the observer to get close enough to the object that is being examined without risk of misinterpreting what is seen.

The bioscope is extremely simple. It is provided with a camera lucida to permit of the drawing of the objects observed. It consists of a tube with a rack provided internally with a system of achromatic objectives perfectly free from spherical aberration and with a wide field eye piece.

The instrument is also provided with a system of measurement of various arrangements for supporting diaphragms. At a distance of 19.5 inches the microscope has a magnifying power of more than twelve diameters, say of 114 times the surface.

A MODEL HOME.

Artistic and Practical Design For a $2,700 Residence.

[Copyright, 1905, by Stanley A. Dennis, 234 Broadway, New York.]

We present in the accompanying elevation and floor plans a model low priced house. This design, the architect states, has been used with slight alterations by hundreds of home builders in the vicinity of New York city at a cost of about $2,700.

There is a cellar with stone walls and concrete floor under the whole house. In the cellar is a modern hot air furnace.

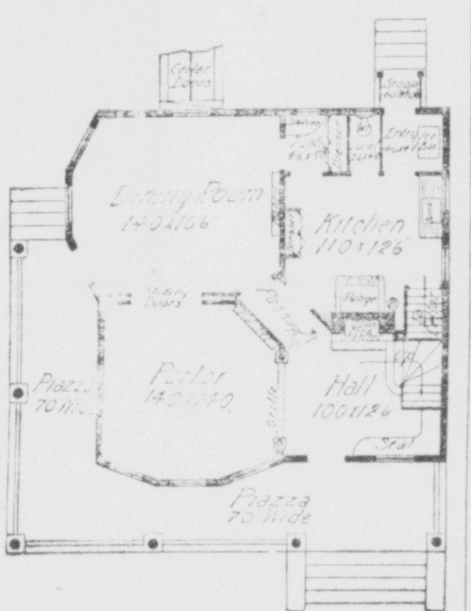

The frame of the house is of hemlock and spruce lumber and timber. The exterior walls are sheathed and covered with two ply building paper, express beveled siding and dimension cypress shingles. The main roof is covered with 8 by 12 inch black Bangor slate. All eaves and other exterior ornamental work are of white pine and cypress lumber and moldings. The piazza ceiling is cemented on metal lath. The columns of the piazza are of turned yellow pine, bored through the center and finished in the natural wood. The piazza floor is of 14 by 2 inch clear white pine.

All exterior woodwork, except shingles, is painted with two good coats of oil paints of such colors as may be desired. Shingles have two brush coats of shingle stain. The main side gables are plastered with cement on metal lath. The floors are all laid with narrow yellow pine tongued and grooved flooring boards. The interior walls are lathed and plastered with hard patent plaster. The open fireplace in the main hall contains a brick mantel with tiled hearth and fireplace fittings. The grill between the parlor and the hall is boxed and paneled, with turned pedestals, turned columns and fancy spindle work. The parlor and dining room mantels are of quartered oak, with beveled plate mirrors, tiled facings and dark bronze summer pieces. The trim throughout is of clear kiln dried North Carolina pine with fancy molded casings and cabinet molded heads. The stairs are of yellow pine, with oak newels, rails and balusters. The seat in the hall is set on neat brackets. The dresser in the kitchen and pantry has closets, drawers, shelves and glass doors.

The kitchen contains a modern range, with gas attachments, upright boiler and white enameled sink. The tubs are located in the cellar. The bath and toilet room off the kitchen contains a porcelain water closet with attached seat and cover, marble wash basin and roll rim porcelain enameled bathtub with nickel plated fittings. All interior woodwork is finished in the natural wood with wood fillers and two good coats of interior hard drying varnish properly sandpapered and rubbed between coats.

The hardware throughout is of plain real bronze with apple wood knobs, roses and escutcheons. The house is piped for gas and wired for electric lights. All windows, except those of the cellar, are fitted with modern inside Venetian blinds to match trim. The attic is floored, but is otherwise unfinished. Three additional bedrooms and storeroom can be arranged for in the attic if desired.

This makes a model design and plan in every respect and is well worth careful study by intending builders.

RELIABLE INFORMATION.

From The W. F. Peter Drug Co.

We want the people of Seymour to know that we believe the most valuable preparation of cod liver oil—the best tonic, reconstructer, health-restorer and strength-creator known to medicine today, is Vinol.

Vinol, be it understood, is not a patent medicine, as everything it contains is named on the back label of every bottle. We guarantee Vinol contains in a concentrated form all of the medicinal curative and body-building elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers but without a drop of oil to clog the system, upset the stomach and retard its work. This is why Vinol is so far superior to old fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

We do not believe there is a man, woman or child in Seymour whom Vinol will not benefit at this season of the year.

Vinol has become so well known and so highly regarded by the profession that it is actually guaranteed by over two thousand leading druggists of the United States to create health and strength for old people, weak, sickly women and children, nursing mothers, and after a severe sickness, and for hacking coughs, chronic colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles, also to create an appetite and make those who are too thin, fat, rosy and healthy. Try Vinol on our guarantee. It costs nothing if it fails. W. F. Peter Drug Co.

A Poem for Today

THOMPSON OF ANGEL'S

By Bret Harte

It is the story of Thompson—of Thompson, the hero of Angel's. Frequently drunk was Thompson, but always polite to the stranger; Light and free was the touch of Thompson upon his revolver; Great the mortality incident on that lightness and freedom.

Yet not happy or gay was Thompson, the hero of Angel's; Often spoke to himself in accents of anguish and sorrow: "Why do I make the graves of the frivolous youth who in folly Thoughtlessly pass my revolver, forgetting its lightness and freedom?"

"Why in my daily walks does the surgeon drop his left eyelid, The undertaker smile and the sculptor of gravestone marbles Lean on his chisel and gaze? I care not o'much for attention; Simple am I in my ways, save for this lightness of freedom."

So spake that pensive man—this Thompson, the hero of Angel's; Bitterly smiled to himself as he strode through the chaparral musing. "Why, oh, why?" echoed the pines in the dark olive depth far resounding. "Why, indeed?" whispered the sagebrush that bent 'neath his feet, non-elastic.

Pleasant indeed was that morn that dawned o'er the barroom at Angel's, Where in their manhood's prime was gathered the pride of the hamlet. Six "took sugar in theirs," and nine to the barkeeper lightly Smiled as they said, "Well, Jim, you can give us our regular fusel."

Suddenly as the gray hawk swoops down on the barnyard, alighting Where, pensively picking their corn, the favorite pullets are gathered, So in that festive barroom dropped Thompson, the hero of Angel's, Grasping his weapon dread with his pristine lightness and freedom.

Never a word he spoke; divesting himself of his garments, Danced the war dance of the playful yet truculent Modoc, Uttered a single whoop, and then in the accents of challenge Spoke, "Oh, behold in me a Crested Jay Hawk of the mountain!"

Then rose a pallid man—a man sick with fever and ague; Small was he, and his step was tremulous, weak and uncertain; Slowly a Derringer drew and covered the person of Thompson; Said in his feeblest pipe, "I'm a Baldheaded Snipe of the Valley."

As on its native plains the kangaroo, startled by hunters, Leaps with successive bounds and hurries away to the thickets, So leaped the Crested Hawk and, quietly hopping behind him, Ran and occasionally shot that Baldheaded Snipe of the Valley.

Vain at the festive bar still lingered the people of Angel's, Hearing afar in the woods the petulant pop of the pistol; Never again returned the Crested Hawk of the mountains; Never again was seen the Baldheaded Snipe of the Valley.

Yet in the hamlet of Angel's, when truculent speeches are uttered, When bloodshed and life alone will atone for some trifling misstatement, Maidens and men in their prime recall the last hero of Angel's, Think of and vainly regret the Baldheaded Snipe of the Valley!

OSTEOPATHY.

Reasons Why This Treatment Should Be Tried.

So many ask why they should try Osteopathy rather than some other method of treating disease that we give the following reasons.

1. The percentage of Osteopathic cures is greater than any other system.
 2. Most of the Osteopathic cures are made when all else has failed.
 3. It cures many troubles that medicine can not.
 4. Osteopathic treatment is absolutely safe.
 5. Osteopathy does not produce one disease to cure another.
 6. Osteopathy removes the cause of disease.
 7. Improvement continues after the treatment is discontinued and the cure is permanent.
 8. The system is not saturated with dangerous drugs.
 9. Osteopathy is more pleasant to take than any other treatment.
 10. The method of Osteopathic treatment appeals to the common sense of intelligent people.
 11. Thousands who have tried Osteopathy are enthusiastic in its praise.
 12. The charges are reasonable.
 13. The most intelligent people are believers in Osteopathic practice.
 14. Osteopathy has been considered in over half the states and not a single law has been passed against it.
 15. Governors, legislators, judges, authors and all classes of people are its adherents.
 16. The practitioners are educated people with a large experience in the treatment of disease.
 17. Possibly your chronic trouble will never be relieved by medical means.
 18. You can not afford to neglect this means of relief.—Iowa Journal.

CANTWELL DYING

Speaker of Last House of Representatives Sinking Rapidly.

HOPE NOW ABANDONED

It Is Declared That a Second Operation For Relief of Invalid's Condition Would Be Futile.

Patient Is Sinking Rapidly and Death May Be Expected at Any Time.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 3.—Sidney Cantwell, speaker of the last Indiana house of representatives, who has been ill all summer, is rapidly sinking and death may be expected any time.
He has been a sufferer for three or four years with tubercular trouble of the kidneys, and underwent a preliminary operation at Indianapolis recently, but it only gave temporary relief.
He hoped to gain sufficient strength to undergo the major operation which would be necessary if life was to be saved, but the specialist in charge
has decided that the operation will be futile.

BANKERS ARRESTED

Officials of Defunct North Manchester
Concern Must Answer.

North Manchester, Ind., Oct. 3.—
The arrest of Daniel Krisher, president, and Dayton Harter, cashier, of the North Manchester bank, which failed a year ago last June with $50,- 000 in deposits, was made yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Ryan Martin. The arrest was expected by the men who furnished bond of $400 in each case.
The charge against them was receiving deposits within thirty days prior to the failure of the bank, knowing it was insolvent. Evidence furnished by Kinsey Bros. grain dealers, who deposited $1,000 June 3, and John Cupp,
who made a deposit of $60 March 21.
Five persons had nearly $50,000 of the bank's funds at the time of the failure.

Lost Control of Machine.

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 3.—Four Muncie persons narrowly escaped death when a large automobile in which they were speeding along the highway, plunged into a ditch. Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Rosenthal and City Clerk Hickok and his wife composed the party. Mrs.
Rosenthal sustained a sprained back and internal injuries, while her husband escaped with only a few bruises.
Mrs. Hickok suffered a broken rib.
The condition of Mrs. Rosenthal may prove serious. While going at a high rate of speed Mr. Rosenthal lost control of the machine and in a flash it plunged into the ditch.

County Offers Reward.

Anderson, Ind., Oct. 3.—The authorities have offered a reward of $100 for a clue to the mysterious and bold shooting of Walter Ellison in his store at Emporia last Tuesday night.
Ellison was shot by a man who used only a piece of muslin or handkerchief over his face, and the shooting was done in the presence of another man and Mrs. Ellison, who were too much taken by surprise to give the alarm before the assailant fled. Ellison may recover, though doctors say that the bullet in his head may never be removed.

Fireman's Strange Disappearance.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 3.—Railroad authorities are wondering at the strange fate of Reuben Heim, aged twenty-three years, a fireman of the Chicago Junction railroad, who disappeared mysteriously from Engine No.
140 while driving a westbound freight over the drainage canal. He was ordered by Engineer George Snell to take the freight out of the engine,
and after climbing upon the tender was not seen again. It is believed he was knocked off in the drainage canal
and drowned.

Conductor Mackey Killed.

Portland, Ind., Oct. 3.—While in an attempt to jump from one car to another James S. Mackey, conductor of the train, fell and his body was cut in two by the wheels passing over him. The accident occurred at Red-key, near this city. Mackey lived at Logansport, where he leaves a widow and four children.

Suicide of a Woman.

Greensburg, Ind., Oct. 3.—Mrs. Joseph Udlike, residing near Kingston,
is dead from the effects of morphine.
Mrs. Udlike's husband has been in prison for several months past. Worry over the condition of her husband is supposed to have been the cause.

State's Testimony In.

Rushville, Ind., Oct. 3.—The prosecution has concluded its submission of direct testimony in the case of Mrs.
Anna Bankert, on trial charged with the murder of Norman Cook, and the defense has begun its presentation of the case.

Police Are Puzzled.

Noblesville, Ind., Oct. 3.—The local police are puzzled over the circulation of counterfeit dollars and half dollars in this city. It is of the opinion that the bogus money was circulated during the recent livestock show.

A Pleasure to All.

No pill is as pleasant and positive

Famous Little Pills are so mild and effective that children, delicate ladies are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

strength and health to every organ of the Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous

of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making
my heart palpitate and I would become very weak.
Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.
MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn. fan, N. Y.

Swedish Parliament Proceeds in the Matter of Disolution.

Stockholm, Oct. 3.—After the king's speech from the throne had been delivered at the opening of the riksdag
the government introduced a motion requesting the house to approve a proposal that the arrangements entered into between Sweden and Norway should go into force from a date
which was left blank when Norway took similar action. As soon as the Karlskrona agreement is sanctioned by the riksdag and the scorching the king will submit a proposal authorizing the dissolution of the union and conferring on his majesty full power to recognize Norway as an independent state.
When this is done the treaty of Karls-krona will become binding.

How to Cure Corns and Bunions.

First, soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it; then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five or ten minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness
and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale by C. W. Milhous

Some Seasonable Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one would hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale
by C. W. Milhous.

More Trouble for Mitchell.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 3.—United States Senator John H. Mitchell, recently convicted of conspiracy to de-franchise the United States government in connection with transactions in public lands, is in a local hospital, suffering from a broken rib. He slipped and fell. Serious complications are not apprehended, but on account of the senator's advanced age
he will have unusual care.

Typhoon's Awful Work.

Manila, Oct. 3.—The inter-island steamer Carlabenia, 1,097 tons, was sunk in the recent typhoon off Ticao
Island, one of the Visayan group.
Apparently all on board were lost.
She carried five Americans, one Spaniard and eleven native and Chinese passengers and a crew of ninety-seven men and officers. The island steamer
Carmen is also reported lost.

A Judicial Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers
who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or for an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cure. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup is unsurpassed. For sale by C.

READY FOR THE WINTER

Senator Hemenway Finds a Home in National Capital.

Indianapolis, Oct. 3.—Senator Jas.
A. Hemenway, according to dispatches from Washington, called on President Roosevelt yesterday afternoon and leased a house at 1448 Massachusetts avenue for the ensuing year. At the White House he talked over legislation that will come up during the winter session of congress. The senator expects to move his family to Washington about Dec. 1. His home will be but three blocks from Vice President Fairbanks and just a few doors
from the Portland apartment house,
where Senator Beveridge will live during the winter. A number of the prominent members of the Indiana delegation will reside in the same neigh-hood. Senator Hemenway will return to Boonville the latter part of the week and will probably stop a day or so in Indianapolis.

Nearly $80,000 was turned into the state treasury yesterday as a result of Governor Hanly's demand for quarterly settlements. Secretary of State Storms paid in $37,950; Clerk of the Supreme and Appellate Courts R. A.
Brown, $4,000; State Oil Inspector
Sidney Conger, $21,918.50; Attorney General Miller, $15,963.44. Settlement has not been made by Auditor of State Warren Higler, Sherrick's successor, but it will be probably as soon as he returns to the city. Attorney General Miller says the W. S. Wickard notes given to Sherrick for $51,000
will probably be paid this week, so it is likely that nearly all of Sherrick's shortage will be wiped out in that time. It is probable that Wickard and Sherrick, who were indicted by the grand jury, will not be tried before the middle of November.

A report submitted today by Building Inspector Stanley shows that September broke all records for permits for new buildings in Indianapolis. The aggregate value of the buildings to be constructed on these permits was $1,000,000. The total was brought up by the $400,000 Knights of Pythias
building and the Herron art institute, but permits were issued for 466 structures, which is nearly twice the record for September, 1904. The inspector's books show that Indianapolis is enjoying the biggest building boom in her history, as the construction of buildings costing $5,486,133.14 has been authorized this year. The increase over last year is $2,177,371.95.

Vice President Fairbanks has gone to Canton, O., to attend a meeting of the McKinley Memorial association, in which he has been a moving spirit since its inception. He not only contributed liberally, but participated actively in raising a large fund to build a memorial in keeping with the high position held by the late president.
Indiana followers and admirers of Mr.
McKinley subscribed over $30,000 for the monument, which was considered quite liberal in view of the fact that a similar amount was raised about the same time for a memorial to the late President Benjamin Harrison.

All plans have been made for the opening of the municipal campaign
here Thursday night by Charles A.
Bookwalter, Republican candidate for mayor, who will deliver his keynote speech at a mass meeting in Tomlin-son hall. His speech will be regarded as the party platform.

A MUNIFICENT GIFT

Ten Millions for Education Contributed by Mr. Rockefeller.
New York, Oct. 3.—The $10,000,000 gift of John D. Rockefeller to the general education board, which was announced last June, has been paid to the board by Mr. Rockefeller in cash. In his letter of last June Mr.
Rockefeller announced that this gift would be forthcoming on the first of October in cash or securities at his option, and the cash was turned over to the board yesterday.
The $10,000,000 were delivered to the executive committee of the board while in session by F. T. Gates, a representative of Mr. Rockefeller and also a member of the committee. The payment was made in a series of checks made payable to George Foster Peabody, treasurer of the board. Six of the checks were for $1,000,000 and two for $2,000,000 each.

New Jail Given a Test.

Bedford, Ind., Oct. 3.—James Leach
and Thomas Morrison, prisoners confined in the Lawrence county jail,
made their escape by tunneling
through the brick walls with a knife.
The jail is the one but recently finished by the commissioners of the county at the cost of $35,000, as it is a handsome structure, from which escape was supposed to be impossible.

How the Books Stand.

Washington, Oct. 3.—The monthly statement of the government's receipts and expenditures shows that for the month of September the total receipts were $50,251,159 and the expenditures $41,369,676, leaving a surplus for the month of $8,941,000 and a deficit for the three months of the fiscal year of $9,574,000.

Fire at Amo.

Amo, Ind., Oct. 3.—Fire which started shortly after midnight in the Hop-wood building from an unknown origin, destroyed that building, which contained the blacksmith shop, the postoffice, the town hall and Thomas Mendenhall's residence, involving a total loss of about $8,000, partly covered by insurance.

SEEING AMERICA.

Wonderful Scenic Trip Across Rocky Mountains to Oregon Exposition.

In certain respects the excursions to the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, Portland, Oregon, via Pennsylvania Lines, beginning May 23rd and continuing through the summer, offer advantages never before presented to Exposition visitors. The trip to the Oregon Exposition, in addition to the attractiveness of the extensive exhibits, includes the journey through the scenic wonderland
of the Rocky Mountains and the Cascade Range, and what American has not looked forward from the days of the geography class
in school to the time when those great sights should be seen in reality? The trip was never so favorable as now. The time may be made less expensive than ever. For only a light difference in fare tourists may extend their trip to San Francisco and Los Angeles.
The return trip may be made over a different route, enabling travelers to view much more of the west. For full particulars, fares, dates of special excursions to Portland on account of conventions, through time and passenger service apply to ticket agent of Pennsylvania lines.

Stop-over privileges permit travelers to investigate business openings. These tickets will be on sale certain dates during the summer. Detailed information as to fares through time, etc., will be freely furnished
upon application to local agent of Pennsylvania
